Barbra Streisand. According to The Billboard Book of Number 1 Hits, Jackson wrote a ballad called I Just Can't Stop Loving You. The track was recorded on his 1987 album Bad. He wanted it to be a duet between him and Streisand. Jackson's manager, Frank Dileo, said Streisand rejected the song simply because she didn't like it. Jackson then discussed the performance of I Just Can't Stop Loving You with Houston. According to Pop Crush, Houston's label Arista Records thought it might distract from the promotion of her sophomore album Whitney when she performed on the song. Eventually, another singer dueted with Jackson on I Just Can't Stop Loving You: Siedah Garrett.
